The happy couple visited an aunt of Miss Sherman in Benton Harbor enroute, and called on relatives of Mr. Underhill in Chicago before returning to their home here. The True Northerner joins the Paw Paw friends in congratulations.

Paw Paw is to have another general dry goods store. Samuel A. Abrams of Chicago has rented the Longwell building formerly known as the "Cumings" store and will open a fine store about the first of September. Mr. Abrams is an experienced merchant and states to the writer that it is his intention to give the people of this vicinity an up-to-date store in every department of the Dry Goods business. He was in Paw Paw this week making preliminary arrangements and will be in readiness for the opening on September first. Advertising space in these columns next week will give further particulars in regard to the business.

Robert F. Brown, state fruit inspector of Hartford, discovered the first shipment of green grapes from this belt at South Haven last Thursday. Mr. Brown states that the grapes were grown and packed by a man of education and culture at Gobleville, and bore a fancy label reading as follows:—"Select Concord Grapes, Grown in best Vineyards. Packed by Mark Owen and Co. Chicago, Ill." The growers name, also "4 quarts" were stamped on the package in small letters. Mr. Brown states that the state law was violated in several different ways:—First, The False Label; Second, Green Grapes; Third, Short weight. The word Champion was faintly stamped where it could scarcely be discovered. The Inspector called on the grower last Friday and found that he had himself packed and put on the false label, also that he had scales in his packing house and knew that the package was short weight. He also knew that the grapes were green and that he was using a false label. He stated however that he was acting under instructions from the Commission men. This violator was severely reprimanded by the Inspector and was told that he might have an opportunity later on of paying a visit to the Federal officials at Grand Rapids.

George W. Longwell Sr., almost the last of the old pioneers of this community, passed away last Friday after a brief illness. It was his great desire during the latter weeks of his life to be spared until his 87th birthday. His desire was gratified for his birthday came on Wednesday of last week. Deceased was born in Schoolcraft, Kalamazoo county, Aug. 13th, 1832. He came to Paw Paw with his parents when two years of age, and this village has been his home for four score and five years. He was married to Nancy M. Brush, October 23rd, 1859 who passed away in April 1895. Four children were born to them, all survive except one son, Harry D. who passed away in June 1894. Deceased was married again in August 1897 to Mrs. Emma Southwell Hogan, who departed this life in May 1909. At the age of 19 years, deceased travelled overland to California. This was in the year 1852 when gold seekers were flocking to the west. On his return he entered into business with his brother, the late J. M. Longwell under the firm name of Longwell Brothers. This firm was in active business in this village until the year 1888 when his sons acquired his business interests. While his remaining years have not been spent in active business, he was always busy with something and alive to the best interests of the community. It has been said of him that he did not have a single enemy on earth, and his friends here and about the county were legion. He leaves three children, one daughter, Mrs. Bertha Harrison of Kalamazoo and two sons, Edgar B. and George W. Longwell of this village. The funeral was held from the late home on Sunday and interment was in Prospect cemetery.

Charles A. Rothmel of Chicago is the guest of his sister, Mrs. J. A. Riedl this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sheldon have returned from an auto trip through northern Michigan.

M. L. Chadwick, of Decatur was in Paw Paw on business Tuesday.

The seventieth annual exposition of the Michigan State Fair will be held in the city of Detroit this year from August 29th to September 7th.

Mrs. Fred Warner, of Lansing came on Tuesday for the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Whitman.

Mrs. M. L. Barber is the guest of friends in Milwaukee this week.

Harold Jacobs and wife of New York City are the guests of Paw Paw relatives and friends for a short vacation.

Manager Reeves of the Idle Hour theatre has installed a new machine which will greatly improve the pictures. He announces a special attraction this week Friday and Saturday nights. Gus Edwards, an old circus entertainer will put on a vaudeville bill in connection with the regular film feature.

Miss Ora Rowlee of Lawrence and William Walter Shepard of Paw Paw were united in marriage in the village of Paw Paw last Saturday. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Rowlee of Lawrence and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Shepard west of this village. The contracting parties are among the esteemed young people of their respective communities and a host of friends join in congratulations and best wishes for a long and blissful wedded life together. The happy couple will reside on the Shepard farm, west of Paw Paw.

Mrs. J. D. Salls has sold her Paw Paw business, known as the Five, Ten and Twenty-five cent store to Clyde Bassett, who has already taken possession. Mrs. Salls has been a business woman in Paw Paw for upwards of twenty years, and will be missed in the business activities of this village. She has been in the present location for about five years and has built up a lucrative and constantly growing business. The new owner, is one of the young business men of this community, who is well equipped to take over this busy store. Mrs. Mary Lake Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lake will be manager of the store with a financial interest in the business. The True Northerner joins in best wishes for the success of the new firm. Advertising space in this issue contains the first announcement.

It may be some disappointment to Chautauqua patrons to learn that Lieut. Neilson, the aviator, will not fill his appointment on the program. He has not been a success, owing to the fact that it is an impossibility for him to make his dates with the machine. He has missed a number of appointments, and has at last cancelled his contract. The Lieutenants number on the program will be filled by Captain Joel R. Moore, who will speak with authority on Bolshevism in Russia. In notifying the local management of the change in program, Mr. Holladay, manager of the chautauqua circuit has the following to say in regard to Captain Moore:—"To know the truth about Bolshevism in Russia is an almost universal desire in this country, and when Lieut. Nielson refused further to honor the legal and binding contract which we hold with him, we thought we were very fortunate to be able to secure the consent of Capt. Moore to take his place on the Chautauqua program after less than a weeks rest following his return in June 1919 from Northern Russia and his discharge from the army a month later on the 24th, of July. Capt. Moore was Captain of the 339th, Infantry of the Russian Expeditionary Force, and spent nine months in Northern Russia against Bolsheviki. While in Russia, Captain Moore became well acquainted with the Russian character and developed a profound liking for the Russian Peasant founded on this intimate knowledge and acquaintance. Upon this same knowledge is based his hatred of Bolshevism. He not only gives a definite and solemn warning against Bolshevism in America but has a constructive remedy. This is not a war lecture but rather a constructive study of the universal social unrest of which Bolshevism is one of the most dangerous and hateful expressions. Capt. Moore is the recipient of the Croix de guerre from France for gallantry in action, and he was the first American officer decorated by Russia, having received the Cross of St. Anna, the Russian military medal for his services in recruiting Russians in the defense of Pinea in Northern Russia, which was an independent action one hundred and fifty miles from base. During last winter when the snow was waist deep, Capt. Moore's proclamation to the Russians of the Pinea Valley made him famous in Russia where it was printed in many Russian papers and finally found its way in translation to America. The Captain was formerly head of the Department of Rural Education in the Wisconsin state Normal school and is a trained observer, able to tell in a convincing way and logical, the things he has seen in the far North. The Captain's modesty and sincerity at once command him to his audience and we are sure that the chautauqua patrons will be delighted that we are able to give them this direct information from the Bolsheviki territory, which for months has commanded the attention of the world."
